From the Manse.....

Christmas is often a time of surprises but Christmas 2016 will be remembered in the Manse for a surprise none of us had anticipated. The basic story is that, following severe abdominal pain, I ended up as a patient at Glasgow Royal Infirmary. The diagnosis was acute pancreatitis – the root cause stemming from an issue with my gallbladder. I am grateful indeed for the care given to me by the wide variety of medical professionals during this whole period. At present I am resting to allow my pancreas to recover from this episode and in preparation for a gallbladder removal operation, which is scheduled for February.

I am sorry to have missed the various special services and events at the Anderson Church over Christmas and into the New Year but so very thankful for all those who stepped in to cover my absence. Indeed I continue to have a sense of peace knowing that the teamwork and Christian community spirit is such that activities are ongoing with help also from the interim moderator Bryce Calder of Kirkintilloch St. David's Memorial Park Church and visiting preachers.

Lynne and I have felt upheld and blest over these past weeks by your prayers, by your practical help and by the lovely expressions of your love we have received. I hope in due course to return to full duties but in the meantime know that I continue to hold you in my prayers.

Blessings.

Allan

History of the Church

In 2018 our church celebrates two special Anniversaries.

Our Church will be 250 years old

In 1768 Kilsyth Anderson Church, known as the Relief Church, broke away from the Established Church.

They built a new building on the site of the present St Patricks Hall where they worshipped for 125 years.

In January 1893, the congregation moved to our present building and we have faithfully worshipped here for 125 years.

Plans are being made to celebrate these two special anniversaries

A Winter Prayer

Father the days are so dull, so cold and so depressing and the night are cold, with frost and snow and rain, It is so hard in winter to feel any enthusiasm for anything , or to believe that warmer days will ever come again. Why, even when we think of you we begin to feel that you must be distant and that our prayers ascend no higher than the ceiling. So we cry to you from the depths of the winter blues. When we stop to think a bit more, however, we see how this is only our mood and not a statement of the truth. So recent in our memories is the glorious brightness of Christmas. A time when the whole world seemed full of life and happiness. Even the cards that cascaded through our doors all bore the same message of love and peace and hope. You were near then. Even the cheap tinsel and the gaudy lights could not obscure the real truth behind the glitter – that you have come to us and that your plan was to redeem us by sending your own beloved son into our dark world that we might know the true light of your love and grace. Help us not just to cherish this as a fading memory – encouraging though even that is. Help us to come to know the one whose coming is celebrated.

How can we say that you are distant when you came as a babe into our midst. How can we complain of darkness when this one who came is truly the light of the world and how can we think that better days are gone for ever when Christ has promised us the warmth of fellowship with himself. Oh help us to see the reality of our situation rather than the drab symptoms of our earth bound life.

Lord, I just want to take in all that you are and all that you can do in me and for me. I want to feel wrapped in your arms and know your love and your strength and I want to go on from here to spend my life sharing this Good News with everyone I meet that they too might come to know that darkness and cold and isolation and gloom and even death do not have the last word for you are Lord.

I ask this simply as I hand this New Year over to you to take each day and each thought and in them use me to your glory and so prepare me for the glory and the brightness of your Heaven.

This I ask in the name of Jesus Christ, my Lord and my Saviour.

Amen

The Story Retold

As we leave the Christmas season behind, our thoughts begin to turn to the later life and ministry of Christ. This is, of course, the working out of what Christmas means. We cannot separate the Christmas story from his later life of service and finally his death and rising again. Together these are the “Mighty Acts Of God” for our salvation.

We begin this series of “Memory Verses” by going back to the Psalms and picking up these verses from Psalm 103. Verses full of praise for all that God has done, is doing and will do in the time to come. Catch the sheer joy of the Psalmist’s words as he recounts just what this means.

February: Psalm 103 Vs. 2-5

“Praise the Lord, O my soul and forget not all his benefits – who forgives all your sins and heals all your diseases, who redeems your life from the pit and crowns you with love and compassion, who satisfies your desires with good things so that your youth is renewed like the eagles.”

Jesus ministry begins by his submitting to baptism by John in the river Jordan. He does this not because he needs cleansing from sin, but to associate with John’s ministry of committing to God for witness and future life. It is as Jesus is coming up out of the water that the heavenly voice is heard and it is a confirming voice – not only confirming what he has just submitted himself to, but also confirming God’s approval of this act to his public ministry. God is proclaiming that Jesus truly is his son and that he is at work in him and through him to the world

March: Matthew Ch. 3 Vs. 17

“And a voice from heaven said “this is my Son, whom I love: with him I am well pleased.”

Having been baptised as a sign that he is ready to start his ministry, he then goes to the synagogue in his hometown of Nazareth. Here he is invited to speak. He picks up the scroll of the Prophet Isaiah and reads these famous words: words that become his manifesto outlining just what his mission is, and how he will go about it.

April: Luke Ch. 4 Vs. 18 – 19

“The Spirit of the Lord is on me, because he has anointed me to preach good news to the poor. He has sent me to proclaim freedom for the prisoners and recovery of sight for the blind, to release the oppressed, to proclaim the year of the Lord’s favour”

The Story Behind The Song: Here I Am Lord

Daniel L. Schutte (born 1947, Neenah, Wisconsin) is an American composer of Catholic liturgical music and a contemporary Christian songwriter best known for composing the hymn "Here I Am, Lord," also known as "I, The Lord Of Sea And Sky", (1981). He grew up in Elm Grove, Wisconsin and graduated from Marquette University High School before entering the Jesuits. He was one of the founding members of the St. Louis Jesuits who popularized a contemporary style of church music set to sacred texts sung in English as a result of the liturgical reforms initiated by Vatican II.

“When I was a young Jesuit, studying theology in Berkeley, California, a friend came to me one day asked me for a favour. "Dan, I know this is late notice, but I'm planning the diaconate ordination ceremony and need a piece of music set to the text of Isaiah chapter 6." He saw the look of shock on my face knowing I was well aware that the ceremony was only three days away. I told him that I was sick with an awful case of the flu and didn't know if I could compose anything suitable in that short time. He encouraged me and I told him that at the very least I would try to complete something in time for the ordination. I had always loved the particular Scripture passage (Isaiah 6) where God calls Isaiah to be his servant and messenger to the people and Isaiah responds with both hesitation and doubt, but also with a humble willingness to surrender to God. If it was going to work, it would have to be God's power and grace making it happen. Much like Isaiah I was not very sure that I could meet the request my friend had made, but I was willing to try. I remember sitting at my desk with a blank music score in front of me and asking God to be my strength. As I sat there praying for help, I remembered also the call of Samuel, where God came calling in the middle of the night and asked Samuel to do something beyond what he thought he was capable of. I worked for two days on the piece and I remember being exhausted. I was making last minute changes to the score as I walked it over to my friend who lived several blocks away. I remember being very unsure of myself, but hoping that it would be what he had wanted for the ordination. And it was ok. It was more than ok. From the very beginning, people loved the piece and clearly identified with the dialogue between God and us that is the core of the song. In the years following, so many have spoken to me or written how they had their own experience of God "calling in the night" and being given the courage to respond.

For me, the story of “Here I Am, Lord” tells of the God who overshadows us, giving power to our stumbling words and the simple works of our hands, and making them into something that can be a grace for people. The power God gives is far beyond what we could have planned or created.”

A Discipline Worth Learning

We speak a lot about prayer in Church and we seem to assume that everyone prays and that everyone finds prayer easy. O.K. let's begin by admitting that this is not the case. For most of us prayer comes out as a last ditch attempt to get help in some situation in our lives that has gone totally out of control.

In these circumstances it is usually very personal but very self-centred. It is also very heart-felt and the cry is real. Now, no doubt, God does hear such prayers and does answer them, but this is far from being the whole story of prayer. Prayer at its best is a real on-going conversation with God. The talk between friends – or more accurately a young child and an older, wiser mentor. God wants to share all aspects of our lives. He wants to share in our joys – so that we thank him for these and he wants to share in our questioning and searching – so that he can give us help and guidance. He wants to share in our darkness, in temptation and even when we sin so that he can help us repent and find forgiveness. Then he will help us into the situations we began from – praying prayers of supplication, asking for helping in tight corners of life. Having done all that we stand simply on the threshold of prayer for there is a whole world of intercession to be explored where God will lead us to look away beyond ourselves to the needs of a wider world. It is then that prayer becomes a driving force in our lives and a real source of inspiration and power.

We would like to remind you of some of the help available in Church to encourage you in your prayer life. First there is the “Prayer Corner”, where you can pause for a few moments at the end of the morning service. There is always someone around there who will come and join in prayer with you if you are “loitering with intent”! It can be especially encouraging to have someone share these special, deep, personal moments like this and it would be wonderful if this resource was more widely known and used.

The second thing that I would remind you of are little prayer cards that lie above the box by the door in the prayer corner. Here you can jot down any topic for prayer you wish to raise. It can be as personal as you like for it is in total confidence. No names need be given. Any requests made then will be dealt with at the “Thursday Fellowship” and at “Pause for Prayer” on Friday mornings.

We hope this will encourage you to develop a fuller, more fruitful and joyous prayer life.

Here's a wee poem for all our mums.....

GIRLS BRIGADE

Thank you to the girls who turned up in their Christmas jumpers to the Gift Service and a big thank you to our Brigaders who took part in the Service. We were complimented on their presentations

Everyone in the Girls' Brigade Company are excited to be back after a lovely Christmas holiday. All sections are continuing to work on their badge work, hoping to achieve their awards when parents night comes.

The Explorers have been looking at journeys and they are continuing to collect their coins for the literacy boxes for Zambia.

The Juniors have been learning about birds and practising their circus skills.

The Brigaders have been busy learning to make soup as part of their badgework.

The Brigaders and leaders would like to invite everyone in the church to join them after the youth organisations Sunday service on 5th February for some soup and sandwiches in the hall. All donations will go to the literacy boxes and company funds.

We would like to thank everyone who continues to support us. Thank you to all our leaders who come along and give up their time every week to work with all our girls who faithfully come. Thank you to all our girls' parents who bring them along.

BB News

Firstly this month we offer our congratulations to Ellie Anderson who has completed training as an officer in the BB. Ellie joined us at the start of the session and is enjoying working with the Anchor Boys so much that she agreed to undertake training to become an officer. Well done, Ellie - we look forward to any new ideas you've learned at the course.

Secondly, we must say a big thank you to all who helped with the Christmas card delivery. My accounts have gone to be audited and I'm not sure of the exact figure. The total was down slightly on last year, but £2700 (and a little bit more) is an excellent result in these days when people are taking more to social media for sending Christmas greetings than to sending cards. We recruited some new 'deliverers' this year and their help was greatly appreciated. We could not give this service and benefit from such a fantastic amount of money without the help of so many people. Once again, Thank You!

We wish Jack Rennie well as he undertakes his Queen's badge completion course at Carronvale in March. Jack has worked hard to complete all the work for the sections required and to write up all his reports in readiness for this course.

Anchor Boys and Junior Section Boys are looking forward to a trip to Adventure Planet in February. We'll let you know how that goes in the next newsletter. The Company Section have still to have an outing arranged.
